Power Pole Fire Frightening For Albany Folks

The day the rains came, a week ago today, proved a frightening one for an Albany family, the Oliver Ganoungs of 823 Key Route Blvd.

The family was getting into the car about 3:30 p.m. in pouring rain when there was a big flash of light followed by loud crackling. As everyone in the block poured out to see what had happened, the Ganoung car was struck by a piece of flaming crossarm from the power pole in front of their home and wires from the pole and to their house came down.

"It was like a nightmare," Mrs. Ganoung said. Her husband went inside to call the police. PG&E crews quickly arrived to extinguish the flaming pole and restore power service. A spokesman said the fire caused the loss of a 12,000 volt distribution circuit, causing a service interruption of about 21 minutes in parts of Albany and a small portion of Berkeley.

The Ganoungs later discovered their new electrical wiring had burned out, a large hole had been scorched in the wall and there was a burned spot in the rug. They were without service much longer than their neighbors.

A PG&S representative said the Albany fire was part of "scattered trouble" throughout the East Bay brought on by the first storm of the season. Rain falling on dusty insulators created shorts which in several cases resulted in pole fires, he said.

The Albany fire caused a smaller 4,000-volt circuit supplied by the 12,000-volt circuit to be out of service 42 minutes.

All available men were on the job all night Wednesday, restoring service to the estimated 2,800 customers who at some time or another were without power because of the rain, the PG&E spokesman said.

Boys of the team and their parents will be guests at the dinner, which will be open to Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and their families and friends. Admission will be by a donation to the District 64 Baseball Fund.

The 1964 District Odd Fellows baseball team, managed by Robert Coward, a Berkeley attorney at law, had a very successful season. It was the runner-up in the American Division of the Berkeley Youth Baseball League, finishing one half game behind the pennant winner.

Ethel Toreky Services This Morning

Albany residents pause in their busy lives today to honor the memory of one of the city's pioneers, Mrs. Ethel Toreky, 82, of 615 Madison St., who died Sunday.

Mrs. Toreky, a shy, retiring person who had spent 60 years in this area, was a wonderful friend and neighbor, always willing to give a helping hand to those in need.

She was the wife of the late Joseph Toreky and the mother of Margaret Corey, whose husband, the late Ross Corey, was at one time mayor of Albany. Mrs. Corey is the sister-in-law of Frank Corey, Albany businessman.

Other survivors include a sister, Margaret Klusko of Hungary; grandson, Jack E. Corey of San Mateo, and great-grandchildren, Ellyn M. and Graig J. Corey.

14-Minute Session For Council

Albany City Council concluded a brief agenda in seven minutes Monday night. After devoting another seven minutes to Good of the City, they adjourned at 8:14 p.m.

Council passed resolutions commending G. D. Gaeta for his service on the Civil Service Board, authorizing execution of an agreement for cooperative purchasing with Alameda County, and allocating space in Community Center for a pre-school nursery.

After reading a letter of thanks from Donald Re, operator of Albany dump, for assistance during the recent fire by the Fire Department, Bureau of Public Works, Police Department and the City Council, Councilmen again commended Albany's departments, who, as Councilman Joe Egenberger said, "are seldom thanked in such a nice manner."

Under Good of the City, City Attorney Larry Saler displayed pictures of the wreath Albany purchased for $6 for presentation to the people of Mexico. More than 200 representatives of 62 California cities attended the ceremonies. Saler and his wife presented Albany's large, colorful wreath first.

Councilman Richard Clark commended the Albany people who have participated so heavily in the pre-election campaign, urged everyone to get out to vote. Others commented on the importance of voting. On the motion of Egenberger, Council once more reiterated, by voice vote their support of Albany's school Measure B. Councilman Joel Parker was absent.

trances on San Pablo Ave. and Kains Ave., is a convenience for those who visit.

A step inside the gracious main foyer is indicative of the warmth and beauty of the entire facilities. The Rose Chapel is one of two which may be selected as the setting for the funeral service. Here, dignity and comfort prevail. The spacious Drawing Room Chapel is preferred by many families when accommodations for larger gatherings are needed. The Magnolia Room, The St. Francis Room and the Garden Room are among slumber rooms available at the Ellis-Olson Mortuary, where the family may greet relatives and friends who come to call.

The furnishings of the mortuary are beautiful antiques. Some of the rosewood chairs, marble-top tables and lovely lamps are museum pieces, creating a warm, homelike atmosphere of comfort and serenity.

Harold W. Olson is president of the Ellis-Olson Mortuary; May Ellis Olson, vice president, and their daughter, Mrs. (Robert) Yvonne A. Walkup, is secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Olson stated that women play a highly important role in modern funeral service. Their understanding and intuitive ability to console are especially appreciated. Among the 16 members of the Ellis-Olson staff are six women.

Mrs. Olson further stated, "During the past 32 years, we have seen and adopted many changes in our profession, but we have never lost sight of the fact that people need and appreciate personalized assistance in time of sorrow. With all the advancements of our firm . . . with modern facilities and equipment and the continually improved methods of serving . . . we still attend to each family's every need as if it were our own."

"We are proud of our 18-year membership in the Order of the Golden Rule. The principle we adhere to, which doesn't need changing, is . . . The Golden Rule," Mrs. Olson said.

11th Annual Veterans Day Parade To Be In Hayward

Committee assignments have been announced for Alameda County's eleventh annual Veterans Day observance, which will again be highlighted by a colorful three-hour parade.

The Nov. 11 parade will be staged this year in Hayward, on Mission Blvd., B St. and Foothill Blvd., starting at 11:30 a.m. Crack drill teams, bands, floats, horsemen and majorettes, along with 3,000 marchers, will take part, before an expected 100,000 spectators.

Alameda County's annual observance—rated the nation's largest November 11 parade—is held in a different city each year. It is directed by the Alameda County Veterans Affairs Commission and sponsored by the Board of Supervisors and all city councils.

BARTD Talking To You?

We guess it's inevitable — Rapid Transit is coming through, and if you are one of those people that just hate to leave Albany, you really don't have to. We are building 3 beautiful new homes on the Golden Gate view side of Albany Hill on lovely Hillside Ave. The first will be a spacious 2 bedroom, 2 bathroom home, with large living room opening onto a view deck, full dining room, terrific kitchen with electric range, refrigerator, dishwasher, and ample cupboards. There's also a large basement area which can be developed into 2 more bedrooms if you're interested. However, we really designed the home for a family whose children have grown and desire to have their first brand new view home. It's designed by leading architect John M. Hogg, A.I.A., and will be built by Gerard Fisher, long-time local contractor. Guess you know by now, this home isn't low priced, and we'd really like to tell you the price in person, when you swoon. However, after you see what you're going to have to pay for an older house, you may have a quick recovery. To borrow a phrase we recently seem to have heard — "In your heart, you know you'd like a new home."

If You're Still With Us

And if you're thinking about investing in a home that would be modern, but which would have some income with it, we have two outstanding possibilities:

Modern Fourplex

4 outstanding 2 bedroom apartments, each with carpets, drapes, absolutely marvelous kitchens, and bay view. Do you know—that if you buy this fourplex for the money which you would pay on an older home, you can live in your own apartment (home) and the other 3 apartments will pay all of your expenses, mortgage payments, taxes, insurance, upkeep. Then when your loan is paid off, you'll have a home plus about $300 per month net income after taxes. This fine fourplex is in excellent Albany view location, and has some stunning possibilities. Evenings, Mr. Williams, LA 6-3819.

Brand New Triplex

But then, if you are looking for something absolutely unusual, we've a breathtaking Albany Hill view lot, on which we are going to build a triplex that is not only different but almost irreplaceable. There will be 3 large 1,000 square foot apartments, each with 2 bedrooms, 2 bathrooms, dining room, all electric kitchen including dishwasher, private balconies, and other amenities. One unit can be built as a 3 bedroom apartment if order placed in advance. You could live like a king in any one of these apartments, and let the other 2 luxurious units make the payments. Again, these are not cheap, but they are truly economic, if you are pricing real estate these days. We would bet that a few years after they're completed, you'll be offered a higher price than you dreamed possible. Call for details.

Home Listings

We have just completed one of our greatest months in home sales. We have buyers galore, and are actively seeking properties. If you have a home which you would like to sell or trade up, call us for fast appraisal, and equally fast action.
